L. P. FISHER is our only authorized Agent for the collecting of advertisements, etc., in San Francisco.THE STATE OF EUROPE.—A remarkable article by M. Forcade, on the state of Europe, recently appeared in the Revue des Deux Mondes. The following is an extract:France herself, who began to move, is now silent, looks on, and waits. She began with an Italian confederation; she has arrived at Italy united. She promised the Papacy new lustre by the Presidency of an Italian confederation; she now witnesses the destruction of the Pope's temporal power. Instructed by experience, and most modest in her hopes, we do not know if at this day she can guarantee, even for any length of time, the presence of the Sovereign Pontiff at home.Austria forgoes her pride, and is learning common sense; she answers no provocations; she seeks her regeneration in liberal reform.Prussia ceases to be envious and quarrelsome, and holds out her hand to the court of Vienna.Russia grows generous, and the Emperor Alexander pardons the Emperor Francis Joseph. Warsaw sees a congress of Sovereigns.King Victor Emanuel is at the head of a State of 24,000,000 of men, and the most circumspect Federalists of last year are now the most fervent Unitarians.England, isolated the other day, without defense, without soldiers, and whom fanatical idiots pretended a year ago to push on to the brink of decay—England, who would not make war for an idea—England, who had deplored the war in Italy—England, whom a certain press meant to exclude from deliberation in the affairs of Europe, has at this moment formidable armaments, an army of volunteers, and in Europe a position at once the freest from all engagements, and is the most courted. She warns the Italians that she will not fight for them; and yet, the greatest Italian patriots look upon her as the surest and most solid support of their work.
She avows to the Northern powers the sympathies which the Italian revolution inspires her with, and yet the Northern Powers, full of deference for her advice, combat in theory only the principle of non-intervention.
She did not treat us over well in the affair of the Savoy and Nice annexations. She gave as a pretext for her armaments the fear which we caused her, and yet France has, in a celebrated letter, replied with the most friendly words and protestations. The remark of Cromwell is, then, true for us—"One never goes so far as when one does not know where one goes."LECTURES ON GARIBOLDI.—One Mason Jones was attracting considerable attention in London by his lectures on Garibaldi, whom he has recently visited at Capri.
Jones is a Mazzinist, and very severe on Cavour. According to his testimony, we are to believe that from Palermo to Turin the name of Cavour is received with a yell of execration—that in Milan the Prime Minister is especially detested, that the whole secret of his power in the parliament is the use of corruption—that he is regarded even by persons holding a portfolio under him, at Naples, as the pest of Europe, as a man full of fraud and lies, a coward in diplomacy, an infidel in religion, or as one believing in Louis Napoleon for God—that Garibaldi loathes him so much as to have named one of his Capri donkeys after him—that he is a babbler and insane." Jones accuses King Victor Emanuel of behaving "with unparalleled insolence and effrontery towards Garibaldi, the greatest genius of the age." He also says that "there are five men whom Garibaldi hates with almost a demoniac hatred; and they are Farini, Fanti, La Far-ina, Montezemolo, and Cordova. He regards them all as thieves, rogues and liars." Jones also maintains that a treaty was signed three months ago, by which France is to have the Island of Sardinia, and the port of Leghorn or Genoa, in case of aiding Sardinia in the expected war for Venetia. Mazzini has proof of this alleged fact, and has commissioned Jones to proclaim it to the world.ANOTHER ROYAL MARRIAGE IN PROSPECT.— It is now definitely announced that the Queen's next daughter, the Princess Alice, is to be married to the Prince Louis of Hesse Darmstadt. Fine prospect this for John Bull, who will, as a matter of course, have to provide not only for the bride, but also for the bridegroom—at least if he don't, it will be something new in the history of such marriages. Well, what must be, must be.
Would that "Wales," on his next visit to the States were to find favor in the eyes of one of America's fair daughters, blessed with an abundance of charms, and rich enough in the great staples of California to remove all objections on the score of outfit.
It would be something to break through royal routine in this way, and the two countries would certainly be none the worse friends if drawn together by such a match.

Consultations at Paris.

Paris correspondence, dated the 19th December of the London Daily News says : Yesterday evening Lord Cowley and M. de Metternich met at M. Thouvenel's, and those three personages afterwards went to see the Emperor at the Tuilleries. It is more than ever believed that negotiations pressing Austria to give up Venetia, receiving a pecuniary indemnity, are actively going on. There is no doubt, whatever, that M. Periere, the great financier, is the author of the pamphlet on the subject which has made so much noise. It is also true that the Emperor revised the proof-sheets, or, at least, read them before they were printed. The truth is, I believe, the Emperor, having heard that M. Periere was about to publish the pamphlet, desired to see it. M. Periere waited on his Majesty, and offered to read the sheets to him, but the Emperor said he should understand the matter better if he read it himself, and begged that the proofs might be left with him. I am assured on authority which I cannot doubt, that in one passage the Emperor made a correction with his own hand. This passage is the following one, which speaks of the cession of Venetia as the object to be desired, and a Congress the means of arriving at it:To revive the great idea of a holy alliance, says the writer, and the reconstitution of it for the sake of populations and kings on bases in conformity with the wants of the epoch, and to cause the present frontiers of France and of all the states of Europe to become in the eyes of all and forever sacred—such is the universal wish of nations and of Governments; such the grand enterprise of the century.M. Periere had written les frontieres de France, but the Emperor, wishing more emphatically to declare his renunciation of all projects of further annexations and extensions, interlined the word "actuelles."This anecdote is much commented upon in political circles, and is considered as strong additional evidence of the fact for which there has long been much converging testimony—that the Emperor, whatever ambitious views he may have entertained formerly, does not really destroy peace and good friendship with all his neighbors. Of course, he wants a Congress to confirm his appropriation of Savoy and Nice.A MURDER DETECTED IN A SINGULAR MANNER.—At Winalton, Engla'd, a policeman on his beat, at a late hour of the night, encountered a man carrying a burden, which he suspected contained some things not honestly come by. The policeman challenged the individual, demanded to know what he had got, and for answer received the contents of a gun in his body, falling mortally wounded. He lived long enough to describe his murderer, and suspicion fell on a man named Richardson.
The person indicated was at once apprehended, and his cottage was searched. A gun was found in his possession and which he owned was his. On his trial he all but proving an alibi, and his counsel contended that under the circumstances the man might well be mistaken in regard to the person of his assailant. But on examination of the gun a curious piece of evidence came out.
It was discovered that one of the barrels was still loaded. On drawing the charge, it was found to be rammed down with a piece of the Times, dated March 28, 1854.
The discharged wadding had been picked up, and was proved by the printer of the paper to be a piece of the same impression.
The man has since confessed that he fired the fatal shot.COURT MARTIALED FOR REFUSING TO PA-RADE IN HONOR OF THE PRINCE OF WALES.Colonel Corcoran, of the Irish Regiment of militia, (69th,) is on trial in New York city, before a court martial, for disobedience of orders from Gen. Sandford, in refusing to parade on the occasion of the reception of the Prince of Wales in that city. He will probably be dismissed from his command.
The points offered by the accused, in bar of the charge, viz.: That by law they were only compelled to make two general parades a year, which they had already made; and that the person designated in the order promulgated as "the Prince of Wales," did not assume or bear that title, or the honors, if any, thereto appertaining, and therefore was not entitled to any rank, civil or military, which could be legally recognized in the United States.HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—These Pills are more efficacious in strengthening a debilitated constitution than any other medicine in the world. Persons of nervous habit of body, and all who are suffering from weak digestive organs, or whose health has become deranged by bilious affections, dis-ordered stomach, or liver complaints, should lose no time in giving these admirable Pills a fair trial. Coughs, colds, asthma, or shortness of breath, are also within the range of the sanative powers of this very remarkable medicine. The cures effected by these Pills are not superficial or temporary, but complete and permanent. They are as mild as they are efficacious, and may be given with confidence to delicate females and young children.

Industrial Exhibition.

A meeting will be held at the Court House to-day, at two o'clock, to concert measures to represent these colonies in the Industrial Exhibition of 1862, in London. It is to be hoped that it will be well attended, and that public apathy will give place to cordial co-operation on all hands, in order to extend proper encouragement to the movers in the matter. No question could be raised that is more likely to confer greater benefits on the country than the one under consideration, provided it is followed out to its legitimate results. In fact, we hail the industrial movement as the first faint indication of a practical step for the advancement of the country. We look upon it as a measure that may in wise hands result in the discovery and classification of the industrial resources of these colonies; and as the earnest of an attempt to show our own people, as well as those abroad, the favorable advantages we possess for a profitable investment of capital, and our capacity to sustain a large and thrifty population.

Hitherto we have acted a most unwise and unenterprising part. We have been a small shop-keeper in a back street. We have been living off of a few customers. Our stock on the shelves has been, reputedly large; but owing to our want of business capacity, we have eked out a petty shop-keeper's existence on the profits of the sales of a few wares that have met a ready sale. We should long ago have moved to a front street; occupied an inviting establishment on the most popular thoroughfare; arranged our manufactured goods, or our raw materials, in the most attractive manner, and been fully up to the age in business tact to supply the local and the foreign trade. But we are just now awaking after a Rip Van Winkle sleep. We rub our eyes and look around the world, and see everybody at work. We find we live in an industrial age; that the possessors of industrial resources—nations though they may be—are inviting all the world to invest. Mutual profits are guaranteed; and mutual enterprise on the part of rulers and people are crowned with success everywhere. The reason why we have led such a moping, sleepy, apathetic, unenterprising life, can only be attributed to the want of business capacity among our rulers. We have prospered amazingly in the past three years, but who will or dare attribute that prosperity to government influences? No one. The individual enterprise of our citizens, unaided and alone, are the authors of our successes. They have surmounted the natural obstacles of the country, and broke down in many instances the barricades to industry and commerce erected by governmental shortsightedness and stupidity. At last, however, there is a general awakening. Indications are favorable in the present industrial movement that the government itself may have its eyelids propped up long enough to let into its drowsy skull sufficient light from the eager, busy, and enterprising world without, to prove that it has been a sluggard, if not a drone in the hive, too long. The indications are that the government will, for once, and to-day, co-operate with the people; that it will proffer its aid in taking an inventory of our stock of raw material; that it will assist in inaugurating a scheme to let the world know that we have the capacity to sustain population, and the resources for the safe and profitable investment of millions of capital. If happily it does, we shall record it as the one good move amid a host of bad ones spread over the past three years.

The meeting of to-day is specially directed to the exhibition of our industrial resources in the World's Fair in 1862. It is very apparent that no more favorable opportunity could be offered to give a bird's-eye view of the agriculture, minerals, lumber, and fisheries of this country to the British public. Still, when we consider that the articles which we may send to the exhibition will be distributed under the various classes in the different departments, the bird's-eye view which we propose to give will be likely to be particular and not general. Could samples of every article be arranged in one spot in the exhibition, it would confer greater benefits upon us. From what we know, however, of the scientific classification at the Crystal Palace that would be impossible. The farmer, the miner, the lumber dealer, or the furrier, and so with everybody, may repair to the respective departments of the commodities that are most interesting to their business or purpose. Thus, the knowledge of our resources are more likely to be particular than general. Such advantages as we may thus derive may be very considerable, and we trust ample to leave a profit for our outlay. We are inclined, however, to the opinion that the industrial movement of to-day, aside from the Industrial Exhibition, will, if followed to its legitimate branches, confer a lasting benefit on the country.

Hitherto no classification of our resources have been published. We are reputedly rich in agricultural and mineral wealth; in timber and in fisheries. Yet, no specific examination of the country has been made. No topographical—no scientific survey has been entered upon. It is much wanted. The industrial movement may, therefore, be the means of causing the exploration of the country, and the report be a guide to the immigrant and the capitalist. From such an undertaking well done, we may expect far greater results than from a mere exhibition of our raw materials. Another movement may grow out of the present; may ripen, and confer incalculable blessings on agriculture—we mean an Agricultural Association. Agriculture is suffering for an impetus. It waits but for intelligent and scientific assistance, for the dissemination of more expansive ideas; and for improved implements of husbandry. It is, therefore, not merely the profits that may flow into our lap after the industrial exhibition is over in 1862 to which we should look; but the local knowledge that may be acquired in furthering that object may be a local impetus in the development of our industrial resources, besides showing an attractive picture to the intending immigrant and capitalist.

NOVEL VIEWS OF THE UNITED STATES.—The London Critic, in an article reviewing a recently published life of the present Emperor of Russia, makes the following novel and somewhat extensive predictions about the future of the United States. The writer evidently does not think that the contest between the United States and the nation of South Carolina will be "a great war."

Russia is a menace to Turkey, to Austria, to the Germanic States. Persia is her slave; she projects railroads through both Siberia and Persia. All the outlying possessions of the Chinese, Russia has already seized, or is about to seize. Ere long her wolfish clutch will be on China itself. Japan she would on the instant grasp, if she dared; but her most covetous and pertinacious glance is thrown towards British India. Now, Russia does not need or care for decent pretenses when she wishes to steal. Turkey she has generally robbed at the end of a war. But the whole vast and very valuable region of the Amoor River she coolly appropriated when at profound peace with China—a region capable, it has been computed, of supporting a population of fifty millions. Unfortunately for Russia, if she has no rivals in the Old World, she has in the New. The United States of America have the same insatiate and unscrupulous longings as Russia, are quite as pertinacious, and are much more elastic, prompt, energetic and enterprising. Now there is no aspiration dearer to the American heart than conquest on the north-eastern coast of Asia. The Americans were first to force the Japanese to make substantial concessions. But an American orator of eminence plainly indicates that these concessions are but the preludes to far mightier victories. Japan seems doomed to fall into the hands of the Americans. But it is absurd to suppose that they will be contented with the Japanese Islands when they are so near the continent. They will make their own, with little ceremony, those coast tracts which the Russians have wrenches, or are about to wrench, from the Chinese. The first great war in which the Americans engage will be with the Russians.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT.—An English jailor has devised a plan whereby convicts sent to the tread mill exercise their minds at the same time that they are moving their pedal extremities. The improvement is this: The prisoners, at every step they take, call up to view a letter or word, and are thus taught the alphabet or reading while they are at work. "By degrees," says a writer on the subject, "they become able to read a chapter in the Bible."

THE PEOPLE'S PAPER.—The People's paper at New Westminster, to be called the British Columbian, will be issued for the first time to-morrow. It will take the place of the New Westminster Times, having been established on the ruins of that late government organ.

THE BRITISH COLONIST

Tuesday Morning, Feb. 12, 1861.

CONTUMACY OF COURT.—Yesterday morning, in the Court of Assizes, Attorney General Cary called the attention of the Chief Justice to an alleged contempt of Court committed by Chas. B. Young, on Tuesday last. Mr. Cary said: "While attending the race on Tuesday last, at Beacon Hill, I was accosted by Mr. Chas. B. Young, who said, 'who told you I was a pawnbroker in San Francisco?' I replied, 'oh, I can't give you my authority.' 'Well, then,' he replied, 'I shall take the earliest opportunity of insulting you publicly; if I'm a pawnbroker, you're a pimp!'" Mr. Cary concluded by saying that as it was clearly an attempt to intimidate an officer of the Court, it must be regarded in the light of a contempt. His lordship said that a summons would be issued for Mr. Young. This affair grows out of the trial of Jacob Fried for perjury. Young appeared as the principal witness for the prosecution, and Mr. Cary asked him if he had not been a pawnbroker in San Francisco, and also, if he was not a Jew by profession?

ANXIOUS TO BE TRIED.—Elias De Young of Fort Yale, appeared before the Chief Justice yesterday morning, and, through the Attorney General, announced his readiness to stand a trial on a charge of perjury. De Young, it will be remembered, was stated by Judge Cameron, in rendering a decision in the case of Phillips vs Green, as having been guilty of perjury in giving evidence for the defendant. His lordship said that De Young should be tried at the next term of the Court of Assizes. Mr. De Young seems anxious to be tried, and declares his entire innocence of the accusation.

ARRIVAL OF THE "OTTER."—The steamer Otter arrived from Fraser River on Saturday last. Fraser River is open, and the steamers were ascending. The Flying Dutchman has proved an entire success, having "made the rifle" at Union Bar, and succeeded in reaching Yale easily. The general news is unimportant. The ground is frozen, and, beyond tunnel operations, no mining is going on.

A WITTY JURYMEN.—One of the jurors, empaneled to decide attendance on the Court of Assizes, yesterday morning, observing a number of crows hovering over the Court House, asked a fellow-jurymen what they wanted in the neighborhood at such a time? "I don't know, indeed," replied the other, "unless they have some 'caws' (cause) to be tried."

THE JEWISH TRAVELER.—J. J. Benjamin, the distinguished Jewish traveler, will leave this morning by the steamer Santa Cruz for Portland, where he will remain for a few days, and then proceed to San Francisco. From there he will go to Africa and other countries. After collecting valuable information he will publish a second edition of his travels.

THE BENEFIT OF MR. POTTER.—The performance for the benefit of this gentleman was well attended last evening. The "Merchant of Venice; or, the Pound of Flesh," was very appropriately rendered, and we hope the beneficiary received sufficient to place him out of reach of the clutches of the law.

POLICE COURT.—Three lovers of tangle-leg, having coiled themselves up on the sidewalks, were arrested by the police and accommodated with lodgings at the barracks. They were each fined five shillings or six hours imprisonment. An Indian, charged with stealing a pair of boots, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS.—There are twelve male patients in the hospital at present. They are suffering from the following diseases: 3 paralysis; 3 ulcerated wounds; 2 frost-bitten; 1 debility; 1 rheumatism; 1 dropsy. Three of the above are from British Columbia, the remainder from Vancouver Island.

NANAIMO.—The coal mines of this town will cause it to become a place of considerable importance eventually. Five vessels have recently cleared at San Francisco bound to Nanaimo, and three passed up the Straits on Sunday.

GIFT ENTERTAINMENT.—Mr. Sheldon is arranging a grand gift entertainment, to be given at Moore's Musical Hall, on Saturday evening next. Twenty prizes—among which are two valuable gold watches—are offered. The tickets are one dollar each.

CONVICTED.—In the Court of Assizes, yesterday, James Clifford, indicted for stealing a quantity of carpenters' tools from the H. B. Co.'s wharf, was convicted of larceny. A jury in the same case, week before last, failed to agree.

GOING AWAY.—The Stark troupe will leave this morning for Oregon. They have long delighted our citizens with their chaste and beautiful representations, and the best wishes of all go with them.

News.—We look for two days later news by the Eliza Anderson, due to-day with the overland mail.

The steamer Santa Cruz will leave for Portland this morning, at 5 o'clock.

The Court of Assizes will meet again this day at 10 o'clock.

Matters at Cayoosh.

"Observer," located at Cayoosh, sends us some very interesting items, under date of Jan. 20th:

SUSPECTED MURDER.

An Indian is in jail here charged with the murder of a man known as Jim Wade, last spring. Mr. Wade started from Fort Alexander in May last, with the intention of taking across the country to his claim on Quesnelle River. The Indian in custody was packing "grub" for him. After an absence of three days the Indian returned, whereas, had he made the trip, he could not have got back in less than six days. Wade never reached his claim, and has not been seen since. The Indians at Fort Alexander accuse the one in custody with having murdered the missing man and buried his body among some bushes. I am informed that Wade deposited a quantity of gold dust with a merchant at Fort Alexander.

THE TRAILS.

A description of the different trails from here to Quesnelle may not be uninteresting at this time. The main trail after leaving here runs along the bank of the river for about 19 miles to Pavilion Flat, where it leaves the river and ascends Pavilion Creek a short distance; it then turns up a hill to the left of a loghouse, and comes out on the old river trail. It should be borne in mind, however, that the same trail, by keeping to the right hand, will lead to the Bonaparte trail, and is called the "cut off" on account of its being shorter; but on account of a very high mountain that has to be ascended and descended, is not often taken, the more level or main trail being preferred. The river trail, after running around a point known as the "Big Slide," continues along the banks of the Fraser, crossing Big Bar, Canoe, Alkali, Little and Big Dog Creeks. In crossing each of these creeks, mountains have to be ascended and descended. The trail runs over some beautiful valleys and flats, and on the whole the country presents a very fine appearance. The trail at last descends Long Hill, so called from its height, and runs along close to the river for about eight miles, when it takes up a large creek, and keeping to the left hand for about five miles the traveler enters the valley at the foot of Williams' Lake, and crossing the creek, soon joins the Brigade trail. This trail is shorter than the main, but is more hilly, and consequently only traveled by those supplying the miners along the river with provisions.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Frenchman was recently fined $200 for selling liquor to Indians.

Quite a number of men are wintering hereabouts, ready for an early start in the spring for Cariboo.

A large two story building has just been completed here.

The bridge across the Fraser at a point above this place, is still progressing, and will, it is thought, be ready for travel early in the spring.

DIED.

On Sunday evening the 10th inst., ELIZABETH PEAKES, aged 58 years, relief of the late Edward Henry Pearkes Esq., of Port Hope, Canada West. The funeral will take place from her late residence, Fort street, THIS DAY, (Tuesday) at 2 o'clock P. M.

The Little Boy that Died.

The late Dr. Chalmers is said to have been the author of the following beautiful lines, written on the occasion of the death of a young son whom he greatly loved:

I am all alone in my chamber now, And the midnight hour is near,
And the fagot's crack and the clock's dull tick, Are the only sounds I hear;
And over my soul, in its solitude, Sweet feelings of sadness glide;
For my heart and my eyes are full when I think Of the little boy that died.

I went one night to my father's house, Went home to the dear one's all,
And softly I opened the garden gate,
And softly the door of the hall;
My mother came out to meet her son—She kissed me and then she sighed, And her head fell on my neck, and she wept For the little boy that died.

I shall miss him when the flowers come In the garden where he played;
I shall miss him more by the fireside When the flowers are all decayed; I shall see his toys and his empty chair,
And the horse he used to ride,
And they will speak with a silent speech
Of the little boy that died.

We shall go home to our Father's house—
To our Father's house in the skies, Where the hope of souls shall have no blight, Our love unbroken dies;
We shall roam on the banks of the river of peace And bathe in its blustful tide;
And one of the joys of life shall be
The little boy that died.

The Baron de Rothschild was negotiating for the purchase from the Count de Chambord of the forest of Vassy, the last portion of the property held by that prince in France, with the exception of Chambord. And thus the son of St. Louis parts with the few fragments yet left him of that broad domain over which his ancestors reigned so long and so splendidly. He rescued it from Charlemagne, parts with it to a parvenu; instead of granting it as a fief to be held by his vassals, he sells it for money to a Jew, and sells it to provide for his necessities.

Dr. Casimer Dumas, in an article upon ladies' dress, remarks: "It was Catherine de Medicis who first introduced into France the use of the corset; thus inaugurating, against her sex, a St. Bartholomew a hundred fold more murderous than that which cost Coligny his life."

THE WORLD'S FRIEND!

Holloway's Ointment.

A Cure for Piles and Fistulas.

Inflammation of sensitive parts, piles, fistulas, and such like painful disorders may be presently relieved, and ultimately removed by the proper and diligent use of this Ointment and healing Ointment, whose action should, in such cases, be assisted by judicious doses of Pills; are many days have elapsed the anxious patient will experience a wonderful degree of ease from this treatment. They are equally suitable to both sexes, and all ages.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthma.

These complaints of the chest come on with alarming frequency. The Ointment should be applied to the shoulders, when the violence of all symptoms will gradually give way, the breathing become longer, and the oppression less. No medicines are more efficient in chest complaints, none can be used with equal safety and certainty. Both Piles and Ointment are accompanied by very clear and simple directions for using them.

A Man who refused to have his Leg off.

"From the Kilrush Advertiser, June 2nd, 1869."

BENJAMIN COX, Esquire, Magistrate, sits in the Board Room at Kilrush, that is known man who had been in the Infirmary, and was actually turned out as incurable. On his way home to Kilrush, he purchased at Dennis' Holloway's Piles and Ointment, for, as he said, it could not be worse with him. This man said Mr. Cox, became by their use as sound and healthy as any man in the room. These celebrated Piles and Ointment will cure any wounded, sore, or ulcer, however long standing, if properly used according to the printed directions.

Gout and Rheumatism.

The essence of these diseases lie in the blood, which has, through every vessel, the pain-giving poison, which irritates and inflames every tissue it comes in contact with, and produces the hot, swollen, elastic enlargement about the joints so characteristic of gouty diseases. The philosophy of cure consists in overcoming this depravity in the blood, which is rapidly purified by the use of the Piles. The Ointment, when rubbed upon the skin, penetrates the system through the pores, acts in union with the Piles, and soon effects a cure.

Dropsy, Swollen Legs or Ankles.

The various kinds of dropsy, whether windy or watery, arise from some obstruction to the free circulation through the blood vessels or lymphatics, or depend on the inflamed state of some secreting surface. Holloway's remedies, of which the efficacy cannot be denied, act directly upon the blood, the absorbents and secretions, with a power that no dropsy however inveterate, can long resist. They regulate the proper flow of blood to every organ, and purify it likewise—they filter out everything that is bad or injurious—they thoroughly regenerate every function, yet potent as they are for good, they are powerless for evil. They do not contain mercury or any noxious substances. They act safely and certainly.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Old Ulcers.

This invaluable Ointment was never known to fail in the cure of any wound, any sore, or any ulcer, as can be proved by innumerable testimonies from persons who had been discharged from Hospitals as incurable, and yet by perseverance they have been made as sound as they were the day they were born, by this incomparable Ointment. For pinches, blisters, scald heads, and scorbutic humours, it is equally efficacious.

Both the Ointment and Piles should be used in the following cases:

Bad Breasts

Bunions
